Dr. J. G. Candler, of Rainsburg, was elected president of the meeting. In assuming the position he said he felt honored by being called upon to preside over the representatives of the Democratic party of Bedford. The doctor referred to the picture of Hon. William J. Bryan, which some enthusiastic admirer had placed in front of the room, and predicted that Bryan would be the next president of the United States. Every mention of the eminent Nebraskan's name was greeted with applause.

Committee man B. F. Beegle, of Snake Spring, moved that the order of business be as follows: First, the election of a chairman; second, the election of four delegates to the state convention; third, fix the time for holding the county convention; fourth, elect five members of the executive committee; fifth, resolutions. The motion was adopted.

E. F. Kerr was then unanimously re-elected chairman. The following persons were named for delegates to the state convention: John T. Miller, of Mann's Choice; James F. Boor, of Riddlesburg; John C. Nicholson, of Six Mile Run; Frank E. Colvin, Esq.; Daniel S. Horn, Esq., and J. Frank Deal, of Bedford; David Barkman, of Monroe, and James P. Shaeffer, of Harrison, were appointed tellers. J. T. Miller.....30

F. E. Colvin.....18

D. S. Horn.....21

J. F. Deal.....10

J. C. Nicholson.....10

After some discussion the last Saturday in July was selected as the time for holding the primary elections. The county convention will be held on the following Tuesday.

A motion authorizing the chairman of the county committee to appoint five members of the executive committee was passed. The convention adopted the following:

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, That we are for William Jennings Bryan for president, confident that his nomination will meet with the approval of all the people, and that he will add to his sincere patriotic and determined stand in defense of the constitution and in behalf of good government.

That his devotion to the highest and best interests of the people entitles him to their gratitude.

That the efforts of the present administration, in endeavoring to give important and substantial relief to the people, in funding trusts, urging taxation without representation, and maintaining a war of conquest, are demanded.

The state conventions are hereby directed to support Dr. A. E. Endfield for delegate to this district to the national convention.

Just before the meeting adjourned, Chairman Kerr made a short address, thanking the committee men for re-electing him and promising to put forth his best efforts to further the interests of the Democratic party. He asked for the earnest support of the committee men and referred to the importance of getting out the full vote at the elections.

Taking Saturday's meeting of the representatives of the Democratic party as a criterion, the organization is confident, alert, harmonious and progressive.

The Philadelphia Times of a recent issue contained the following: "Laurie Elliott, the woman house breaker, was yesterday sentenced to the county prison for three years by Judge Bellier, in the criminal court, having pleaded guilty to two charges of burglary. The places entered were those of Levi Egger and Charles Pease, both in German town, from each of which she stole a quantity of jewelry, wearing apparel, umbrellas, etc. Part of the goods she pawned, arraying herself in some of the stolen clothing, portions of which she still wore while in the dock."

THE PEOPLE PAY THE PIPER.

In some industrial centers the corporations have slightly increased the wages of their employees, but they have invariably added several times as much to their own profits, so that the people pay the piper while the trusts enjoy the music and pocket the proceeds of the performance. The Emporia, Kan., Times has procured from the merchants of that city the increase of price of articles of necessity as compared with the selling price a year ago. The result of its investigation, which follows, forms a striking object lesson:

Stoves have increased 30 per cent. Wagons have increased from four to five dollars.

Copper has doubled in price.

Fourteen-inch plows that sold for $10 now sell for $14.

Ropes that sold for 5 cents a pound now sell for 13 cents.

A common stove pipe sold for 10 cents; now it goes at 20 cents.

Bolts and rods have gone up 75 per cent.

Tin has increased from $1.50 to $2 a box.

Cultivators have increased from $3 to $4.

Hoes, forks, rakes, shovels, spades and all such articles have gone up to the consumer 45 per cent.

Nails, per keg, from $2.20 to $4.10.

Barbed wire, galvanized, from $2.40 a hundred pounds to $4.60.

Binder twine, which cost 7 cents a pound, now costs from 11 cents to 13 cents.

Glass has increased 40 per cent.

Other articles of general use show a like increase in cost to the consumer. "In every instance," says the Times, "the trust has added enormous profits, every cent of which must come out of the people who have heard so much and seen so little of the boasted 'McKinley prosperity.'

poses the following novel but effective plan for ascertaining the direful effects of the trusts:

"If there are any men in the working class that do not know the evil of trusts and what they really are, the way to teach them would be for all the farmers to go into a trust and put the prices of their products up and maintain them. They would mighty soon find out there would be no use in kicking about them being high. The farmer could say, if you don't give the price you will not get it. So it is with the farmer. He finds it out right along when he buys nails, or wire, or lumber, or machines, or anything he needs.

He kicks in vain. Some will ask the dealer, why so high? I bought this a year ago for so much. Then the honest dealer laughs and says: You voted for a raise in manufactured goods, but did not stop to think that you would be the one that had to pay for it."

Our contemporary says it cannot see why farmers and workingmen do not show more signs of being prosperous

"when prosperity is here with both feet, as the politicians say it is, and what isn't here is a coming."

The trusts seem to have a monopoly on the prosperity proclaimed by these politicians as well as upon every thing else that is worth having.

"The Proposed

THE CANAL

TREATY,

for a modification of the provisions of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, is the subject of a vigorous article by Mayo W. Hazeltine in the March number of the North American Review.

The new arrangement proposed, which is now under consideration by the United States Senate, provides that the United States may build, operate, repair and police, at its own expense, a canal between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, that the neutrality of the canal shall be guaranteed by a European syndicate under rules similar to those which apply to the Suez canal and that the canal shall be open to warships of all nations in time of war. To ratify this treaty, Mr. Hazeltine contends, would be to place the cities on our Pacific coast at the mercy of any European power with a stronger navy than our own, and to deal a deadly blow, by implication, at the Monroe doctrine. Mr. Hazeltine suggests ways of dealing with the convention which would protect the American people from the wrong which it threatens.

"President McKinley may forthwith recall the Hay-Pauncefote convenvention for amendment. If this be neglected to do, the senators may clear their own skirts of responsibility by refusing to ratify the document.

Thirdly, the senate may suspend consideration of the convention and indirectly kill both that and the Clayton-Bulwer treaty by combining with the house of representatives to enact into law one of the two Nicaragua canal bills which are now pending in congress, and which are irreconcileable with the Clayton-Bulwer treaty or its supplement. Or, finally, if the president and the senate, which seems incredible, should both prove recreant to duty, the house of representatives can still safeguard the interests of the United States and of the American continent by refusing to appropriate a dollar for the construction of a canal under conditions subversive of the Monroe doctrine and of the power given us by Nature to protect our Pacific states from assault by European naval powers."

In an address on

"In the mind of all thinking people in America and in Great Brit-question. It gets by the name of impespeech at York last week assured his hearers that imperialism is impossible in this country.

Commissioner Schurman, the defender of the president's policy, endevours with plausible words to persuade us that the arbitrary government proposed for the Philippines is gracious and benign. They are but the hollow shells of the old Congress.

I desire to restore to them (the American colonies) the blessings of law and equality enjoyed by every British subject, which they have changed for the calamities of war and arbitrary tyranny of their chiefs."

In truth the mind of all thinking

THE NEWS FROM THE WAR.

Bravery and Patience of the British Soldiers—A Conference Which Looks Toward Peace—Mrs. Molinex's Letter.

Special correspondence from THE GAZETTE.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The great sensation of last week was the news from South Africa, telling of the long expected relief of Ladysmith and as a consequence another nail in the coffin of the Boers.

The time for the turn of the tide had come and notice was served on the people of South Africa and all the world beside that the Boers were no longer to have it all their way. "Bob" to the front has taught these Afrikanders a new lesson. Strat egy with him means something and he was not long in the saddle when the Boers heard something drop.

His mere under most unexpected difficulties seldom equalled and never surpassed in the war annals of the world, poorly fed, unshielded from the weather which poured down upon them as a pitiless flood; they bore it with a bravery and patience which will en shrine their names with immortality when the history of this war shall have been written. For a time, notwithstanding the story of their suffering and the and sacrifice, we were led to the verge of doubt if their abilities were equal to success.

We saw the brave Gordons leave one-half of the number dead on the bat field and the Lunskillins, weary and hungry, offering themselves as a sac ifice to their country and their queen.

There was no trace of cowardice or faltering anywhere. Weak with hun ger, they were strong in hope, weak by disease, almost unable to move, they looked forward to the day when they would stand in the ranks, ready one more to defend the heritage which they believed their right.

When of old a sojourner in a foreign land said, "I am a Roman citizen," it meant that the conquering eagles of his native land stood between his and harm. That tradition has come down through a succession of ages to men who call Great Britain their home.

No matter how poor or how much suffering they are called upon to en sure they know that the watchful eye of their mother land follows them wherever the stars shine or the sun rises and sets. It is this that holds them faithful in the ranks even in the face of death, for they know that the loved ones they leave behind will not be forgotten by their country.

We regard the federal system as the perfection of human government. Our republic has grown in the estimation of the world with unexampled rapidity; in the last few years the nation of shop-keepers and money-getters is a myth of the past. We now take our rank among the great nations of the earth. Who shall blame the Briton for loving his form of government which gives every guarantee of civil and religious liberty? What have we under government protection that he has not? It fills one with wonder and admiration to see the loyal response with which British subjects far apart as the equator and the poles respond to the call of a weak woman. Her son

where death is almost certain, yet making the sacrifice without a tremor.

A piece of bunting, the Stars and Stripes, represents America's love and loyalty, and the queen stands for every thing that an Englishman loves and honors. His heart must be stung and prejudiced indeed who is not alarmed at the loyal response which England's far distant children made to the motherland. Australia offered her best service at her country's call and sealed the contract with her blood.

Canada, loyal to the core, was not be ing held her other distant children, but pride of the motherland, was found among the foremost in the thickest of the fight. Even starving India des ires to offer her sons as a sacrifice to the nation's loyalty and love. Her son

making the sacrifice without a tremor.

The campaign, hurriedly undertaken and not thoroughly prepared, was one long chapter of disaster. There seemed to be no plan among the British commanders that was not met half way and counterchecked by the Boers

But the most alarming discovery that shook the faith of the people in the wisdom of the war department was that these Boers, whom we almost re garded as half civilized, had armed themselves with the most modern and terrible weapons.
